

ELITE ONLINE DATING

READ. CLICK. BANG. SHE'S YOURS

BY:
NICHOLAS JACK

Elite Online Dating: Read. Click. Bang. She's Yours

By Nicholas Jack

Copyright 2014

By Nicholas Jack

All Rights Reserved

Kindle Edition

Table of Contents

Chapter 1: A New Age in Internet Dating

Chapter 2: What Do YOU Want?

Chapter 3: The types of girls online

Chapter 4: The Pictures of Your Profile

Chapter 5: The Profile

Chapter 6: Who and When to Message

Chapter 7: The First Message and Subject Line

Chapter 8: Continuing the Conversation

Chapter 9: Asking for contact information

Chapter 10: Choosing whether to ask for Skype, Facebook, Number or Whatsapp

Chapter 10a: Skype strategy \(or webcam strategy\)

Chapter 10b: Facebook strategy \(or picture and friends strategy\)

Chapter 10c: Calling and texting strategy

Chapter 10d: Whatsapp strategy

Chapter 11: Setting Up the Date

Chapter 12: Strategies for Building a Connection

Chapter 13: What to Do After Setting Up the Date

Chapter 14: Scheduling and Managing Contacts

Chapter 15: Pipelining Guide

Chapter 16: Online Dating is Like Farming

Chapter 17: Extra Features on Websites

Chapter 18: Websites

Final Chapter: Go Get Em

Check out my other books:

120 Body Language Signals that She Likes You

The secrets to knowing whether or not a girl likes you are contained in this book. No more wondering if she is interested, after this you will understand who it is she likes better than she will.

It is important to know how to read women so you will know which women to pursue. Why waste your time on a girl who is already taken or not looking. Reading body language cues are things that you need to do before: approaching her, asking her on a date, kissing her, and making things sexual. This book will further improve your understanding of women.

<http://www.amazon.com/Sexual-Body-Language-Signals-ebook/dp/B007RZBML2>

Understanding Sexual Attraction: What Makes a Woman Want You

To be what a girl wants you have to know what a girl wants. In this book you will learn the answer to the age old question "What women want". Not the fleeting thoughts of what women currently want, but the things that are hardwired into them. It will explore sexual attraction completely. You will learn and understand every single attraction trigger that women have and why they have them. Broken down mathematically with graphs and percentages, you will learn exactly what things are important when it comes to attraction.

<http://www.amazon.com/Understanding-Sexual-Attraction-Makes-ebook/dp/B00A4N3JX8>

The 9 Laws of Attractive Body Language for Men

If only 7% of communication is done through words, then why do so many believe that they can pick up a girl with some magic line? The 9 laws of attractive body language are your magic line, they cover the other 93% of communication. If you have mastered these, you will be able to say anything, to any girl, and have her respond positively in nearly any situation.

<http://www.amazon.com/Laws-Attractive-Body-Language-ebook/dp/B00BRZQJSO/>

The Perfect Conversation: Win Any Girl with Words

Most guys have no idea how to have a conversation. They just talk about whatever pops into their head, there is no purpose to their conversation, just chaos. There may be awkward silences while they search for what to say. They have no idea why the girl isn't hanging on their every word.

Afterwards, they wonder why the girl doesn't want to see them again.

The Perfect Conversation teaches just that... the perfect conversation. It will teach you how to get her hanging on your every word, how to get her laughing and even giggling, and what to say to literally create attraction in the moment. Then, you will read about how to create a strong connection with her that is so important if you expect any type of relationship.

You will learn what to say in all situations, from when you see her walking down the street to starting a relationship with her. If you follow the outline to the Perfect Conversation, any girl can be yours.

<http://www.amazon.com/Perfect-Conversation-Win-Girl-Words-ebook/dp/B00EZV2BRA/>

The Key Logger: A Forbidden Glimpse into the True Nature of Women

Most men see women as an idea, they see the perfect Disney character that they are supposed to see. After installing a key logger on my laptop years ago, I was able to see all the things that these women did when they thought no one was looking. The stories and the shocking truths that were revealed are told in this book. The true nature of women is as no man imagines.

"I wish I never read this book, I will never see women the same way." - Olivier J.

"I felt the emotions right along with the writer; I felt both shattered and enlightened." - James W.

<http://www.amazon.com/The-Key-Logger-Forbidden-Glimpse-ebook/dp/B00FZXE2HY/>

Chapter 1: A New Age in Internet Dating

Internet dating has changed. In this day and age it is only a remnant of what it was ten years ago. Thanks to smart phones and the social media craze, some of the most beautiful women in any given city are signing up for dating sites. Whether they join for curiosity, boredom or loneliness, the internet gives all men a shot at some of the most attractive women around. If you have tried online dating, I'm sure you have seen these elite girls. You send them a message and they barely glance at it. Have you wondered how other guys are able to get these girls? That is exactly what I'm going to teach you in this book.

However, the problem with the change in online dating is that it has also brought more men, and thus, more competition to online dating. I'm going to give you tips that will set you apart from the rest of the internet.

Most people don't believe that a normal guy could get one of the prettiest girls on an internet dating website. They think that these girls get bombarded with so many messages that they would have to look like an underwear model to have a chance.

I'm here to tell you that it is not the case. It's not a cakewalk, but any normal guy can pull these elite girls from the internet, they just need to know how.

I have been able to pull these elite girls. I have been able to pull them even though I have repeatedly been told things like "Nicholas, you are not photogenic." But I didn't let that stop me from continuing to improve my skills at online dating.

On top of it all, not only have I been able to pull the hottest girls online, but I have been able to set up 6 or 7 dates a day if I wanted to.

Did I start out like that? No. In fact, I started out after breaking free from a 7 year video game addiction. The video game I played was a competitive online game that required strategy and hard work to win. I got ridiculously good at this video game.

This mindset transferred over to my online dating and I started going about it the same way. I was able to put in hard work finding what worked and what didn't work.

I started out feeling lucky if I got a new date every couple weeks. As time went on I started learning other forms of meeting women; in social circles, in the streets or in a grocery store and in clubs and bars. I started getting better at everything, but as the years went by my specialty remained being able to set up dates with beautiful girls while at home on my computer.

Being good at a video game had actually helped me with something worth knowing, it had helped me learn the right approach to completely mastering something while sitting at home on your computer.

This online dating mastery has given me some internet fame as an "online game" specialist. I am constantly messaged about online dating advice and that is why I am writing this book.

In this book I will teach you every trick and strategy I know to get the top girls online, the girls that couldn't read every message a guy sent them if they wanted to. I will show you how to set up as many dates with as many girls as you want and I will show you how to lay the foundation online, so that even before meeting her, she will already believe you are the guy for her.

Whether you are looking for love, a relationship or sex, I will give you the information you need to be able to get a shot with any girl online.

Chapter 2: What Do YOU Want?

Before beginning to master online dating, you want to understand what exactly it is you want out of online dating.

Do you want to find the love of your life? Do you want to find a girlfriend that is just right for you? Would you like to have multiple lovers to be able to keep your weeks exciting and action packed? Are you a horn dog and just want to hook up with as many women as possible?

I have gone through phases where I have looked for every one of these things. As I changed, so did the things I was looking for. I started out looking for only one type of girl, then, as I grew older, I began to enjoy all types.

Chapter 3: The Types of Girls Online

It is very important to know the types of girls online, this is important because if you can identify what type of girl you are talking with, you will know what it is she wants. If you know what it is she wants, you will be able to lead her to believe that you are the man that can give that to her.

As the book goes along I will be making references to the types of women in showing why I am using X type of photo or why I open her with X line.

There are six main types of girls online. There will nearly always be some crossover, but overall, girls will usually fall into one or more of these six categories:

1. The normal girl - looking for a relationship
2. The slut - looking for a good time
3. The good girl - looking for her husband
4. The bored girl - looking for validation and a way to kill time
5. The gold digger - looking to use a man for his resources
6. The single mom - looking for a daddy for her kids

1. The normal girl - looking for a relationship

The normal girl looking for a relationship is the most common type of girl you will find online. She is online because she is lonely and is looking for a guy to go to cuddle, watch and go to the movies with, bring to plus one events and have conversations.

2. The slut - looking for a good time

The slut is just looking for a good time and afterwards... sex. Guys may think that only involves going straight to the bedroom and while that is very easily doable, she may want to do something to build up the attraction before the deed is done.

To tell if she is a slut, you first want to look at her photos. If she has photos wearing a lot of revealing clothing, no clothing at all or with random guys, she may be a slut. A slut may mention sex in her profile or very quickly as she chats with you. A slut will usually want to meet at a bar or club.

3. The good girl - looking for her husband

The good girl is usually religious and is looking for a guy to spend the rest of her life with. Every type of girl will put in their profile: not willing to meet up for a casual encounter, but the good girl is the only type of girl that actually means this. She wants a guy who is most likely religious as well and is willing to wait for sex.

To tell if she is a good girl, you can look at her photos to see how she is dressed. Good girls will be dressed more old-fashioned in clothes that cover up the sexual parts of their body. You can look at her profile to see if she talks about her religion and most good girls will write a lot about the guy they want, putting in a lot of detail and effort in the description. Most legitimate good girls are virgins, so don't be afraid to ask that question (most good girl virgins are proud of it).

4. The bored girl - looking for validation and a way to kill time

The bored girl is one of the harder types of girls to get online, but is still very obtainable. The only reason she is on the dating website is for something to do, she may even have a boyfriend. To tell if she is the bored girl type, you can usually tell from her profile because she will not put any work into it. It will be left empty or it will be just a few sentences long. She will usually respond to your messages in a much more aloof manner as well, maybe even trying to toy with you.

5. The gold digger - looking to use a man for his resources

A gold digger is not simply looking for money, but she is looking for resources in some way. You can find gold diggers on the internet that are just looking for someone that would drive them around town. There are also the types that will only be interested in a man that shows he has a high paying job or expensive cars. There are also the poorer gold diggers that are just looking for somebody with more money than them.

You can spot these girls by their pictures as well; girls like this will usually wear expensive clothing or fake brand expensive clothing. She puts a lot of value on possessions and will probably have pictures of her with her more expensive possessions. However, the easiest way to tell if she is or is not a gold digger is if one of the first things she asks you is what your job is.

6. The single mom - looking for a daddy for her kids

The single mom already has kids and is looking for a different type of guy. She is probably looking for a more serious relationship, but unlike the good girl, she will probably be open to sex really quickly. You can stick out to these women by showing that you like kids, family and have a stable job.

Spotting these women is easy if they have a picture of their kids (half the time they do), but if they don't you can usually tell because of how focused they are on a very serious relationship while still seeming sexual.

The levels of hotness

To help you understand how online dating works I will show you how often different women get messaged and what types of guys will message them. All this will be based on how attractive the girl is.

You will notice that girls have 5 levels of hotness and men have 5 levels of value. That is because what is most important to men online is mostly looks, while what is most important to women online is more of a combination of things (looks, money, status, personality). If you would like to understand exactly what things are attractive to women, check out my book Understanding Sexual Attraction: What Makes a Woman Want You.

In future chapters of this book I will show you how to convey the highest possible value in your profile.

The 5 levels of hotness in online girls:

The attractiveness of the girl plays a big part in how many messages she will receive and from what types of guys. This is important because you will use different strategies on girls that get high levels of messages than you will on girls with lower levels of messages. Also, you will change your strategies based on the value of the typical guy that will be messaging them because you will have to compete with that type of guy.

Extremely low

These girls are very rarely messaged, if ever, and they are only messaged by extremely low value guys.

Under average

These girls will get messaged as much or more than an average value man.

They will get a lot of messages from extremely low and under average men, some from average value men and a rare message from above average men.

Average

An average girl will receive more messages than even above average men.

She will get tons of messages from normal value guys, many messages from above normal, and a couple messages from extremely high value men.

Above average

An above average girl will get bombarded with messages from all men of every value. It is difficult for these girls to even read all the messages they receive.

Extremely high

An extremely high girl will get messaged by any person that sees her profile; she couldn't read all these messages even if she wanted to. After all, what do these guys have to lose in messaging her?

As you can see, the more attractive the girl is, the more messages she will have to comb through. This is important because with higher value girls you will need a much stronger and bolder hook with your opening line. We will get more into the hook later.

Reading girls accounts

I learned about this discrepancy in messages first hand. After doing online dating and getting the girl, one of my favorite things to do was to ask if I could read some of the messages that other guys would send. Other times I was able to read their messages thanks to a key logger I had installed on my computer that I would use on the girls I was dating.

Once I got access, I would pay attention to how many messages they got, from what types of guys and what types of messages they would usually respond well too. Thanks to this, I was able to see the big picture of online dating.

I also have made a couple “research” accounts where I made a “hot girl” account, just to see what types of lines men are using. I got some of my best lines, just from using that strategy. Why reinvent the wheel?

Time spent in online dating

The amount of experience the girl has in online dating is also important. Usually the longer that a girl has been using an online dating website, the more difficult she will be. The exceptions to this are sluts and the rare type that enjoys being taken on dates by guys. Most the time websites have an option to see how long a girl has been a member of the dating site. Use that; also make sure to use the option of searching by newest members. These members will get a lot more messages, but a lot of these girls will see one guy they really like and they will forget about everybody else, so you want to get to them first. On the other hand you will sometimes run into the battle hardened online dating veterans. These girls have been pumped and dumped multiple times. They have not been able to find happiness most likely because of the fact that they have become addicted to the attention and excitement of online dating and can't stay in a relationship for long. This is why time spent in online dating is important for you to know.

Age

Age is a major factor in women, but one thing I have learned is that women are women. You can flirt with an 18 year old the same way you can flirt with a 45 year old. As far as age goes, a woman's peak in terms of attraction is usually about 18-23 years old. These girls will be getting the most messages from men. As they get older they will get less and less attention. 30 is an age where the tables start to turn and men of the same age will start receiving more messages than women of the same age.

The importance of these factors will begin to make more sense as the book goes on, but for now it is good to understand how these things affect the online dating pool.

Chapter 4: The Pictures of Your Profile

The profile is used to show women how high value of a man you are. This is conveyed in two ways: in pictures and in words. Your pictures should be considered the most important way to convey your value because most girls will not read your profile, they will only check out your pictures.

Your sole purpose of the profile is making yourself seem as high value of a guy as possible. You must only look at your profile in that way and that way only. Do not say something or put up a photo of yourself that will make you seem lower value in any way.

You probably don't understand exactly how to be high value yet. I will describe more of what you should show to appear higher value, but if you want to really understand and master it, you are going to want to check out Understanding Sexual Attraction: What Makes a Woman Want You. This maps out everything that women naturally find attractive about men. If you combine that knowledge with the pictures you take, you will become the rock star of online dating.

Pictures

Choosing which pictures are right for your profile can be a very difficult task. You want to choose the perfect photos that paint the right picture of who you are and your lifestyle. Because it's hard to really be unbiased when looking at pictures of yourself, here's the first thing you should do: go find a friend or relative. Ideally, you want her to be an 18 to 24 year old girl, the more attractive she is the better.

First ask her to look through all your Facebook pictures and choose the ones where you look the most attractive (facially and by your body). When she has chosen them, ask her to go through them again and find which ones make you seem like an interesting guy that she would want to meet. Go over them again with her and then save them in a folder.

Then, ask her what your most attractive physical characteristics are: eyes, jaw line, abs, shoulders, etc. Now you have an idea what parts of your body to focus on when you take future pictures.

Congratulations, you just got a leg up on 99% of your online competition. Now it's time to understand the details.

Now that you have good advice from the opposite sex, you can make an educated decision on which pictures to choose. I think that four to eight pictures is all that you need. It is enough that girls will think they have an idea how you really are, while still being careful not to add in a picture that a particular girl finds very unattractive.

Women see overall views of men more than minor physical details. Men are different; we notice the physical details of her body more than the overall picture. If you have pictures of you doing something very attractive (sky diving; fearlessness, traveling; adventurous; attending a ball in a nice suit; wealthy) your physical looks won't be as important because women will focus more on the action. However, make sure that you don't look unattractive in the picture either, because that could catch her eye.

You will notice that us as men will judge pictures by how pretty the girl looks, but if there is something that particularly sticks out in a picture (like a nice rack, ass, hips, etc.) we will ignore the fact that the face isn't as hot as in other pictures. Women are the same way, only they do it more with other forms of attraction as well.

What do we learn from this? You don't have to look like a model in every picture, but you should be saying at least one attractive thing about yourself in each photo, while simultaneously not killing attraction by showing something unattractive.

Every picture tells a story

What I want you to take away from all this is that every picture tells a story. It may look like a random picture to you, but she will see the details. She will see your emotion, where you are, what you are wearing, your body language and much more.

You may look at a picture of a businessman and just see a picture of a businessman. She will see his confident body language, that his face and body looks attractive, his expensive suit, the fact that he took the photo in an expensive looking hotel, that he seemed like he was having fun in the photo and that she suspects a girl took the photo because of the intimate setting. You just saw a photo, but she saw the story. Any girl will be curious to get to know a guy with a photo like that.

Every photo you upload will tell it's only story. You don't want the story to be negative, so before uploading a photo, make sure you take into account what story it tells.

In fact, when you take your next photo you should think back to this part of my book and make sure that the story you are telling is one that all women will like.

Every time you choose a picture, you should take the following things into account:

How attractive you look (facially)

How attractive your body looks

What kind of body language you show

What the picture says about your wealth and career

What the picture says about your lifestyle

What kind of extra attraction triggers you can hit with a photo

Every single time you look at a potential picture for your profile you should be thinking of those things. I will go into each one in more detail so you will better understand.

How attractive you look (facially)

Make sure that your face looks at least decent in ALL of your pictures that you upload. Also make sure that in at least one of your pictures that your face is looking particularly good.

All girls care about facial looks, no matter what women say, so make sure to make it a priority to never show your face at its worst in any photo that you put on your profile.

How attractive your body looks

How attractive your body looks in a picture is another thing to take into account. In this case you want to use what you have. There are many different body types that men have with different strengths. You can use big arms, big chest, good shoulder to waist ratio, six pack abs and your ass to show you have a decent body.

Many of these things can be shown in a picture with a shirt on, others can only be shown in a shirtless pic. If you have any positive body features, make sure to use them in a photo. This is particularly important when looking for slutty girls. Slutty girls care more about bodies than normal girls because they are more interested in the physical aspect of things.

What kind of body language you show

Body language tells a girl who you really are, it tells them if you are confident, dominant and charismatic or if you are unconfident, submissive and socially awkward. To understand what attractive body language is, read The 9 Laws of Attractive Body Language for Men.

If you have any pictures where it looks like you are trying to make yourself smaller or if you look uncomfortable or awkward, you don't want to use any of those pictures. You want to find pictures where you look relaxed, happy and where your body is taking up space.

I have a picture where my head is tilted back and I'm eating a cherry in a way that seems really cocky. I never thought it was that great of a picture, but as I started asking girls which one of my pictures was their favorite, this was one of the pictures that they would usually choose (and I have A LOT of cool pictures from traveling the world). The body language of a photo is key.

What the picture says about your wealth and career

If you take a picture in an expensive suit, a big house or a fancy restaurant, you will give off the impression that you have money. If you have a picture of you in a big office with your name on it or in doctor scrubs, this will show that you have a good job and hence... money. Money is very attractive to women, so make sure to try to get a money attraction trigger in at least one of the photos you choose.

On the other hand you also want to be careful not to take any pictures that will give off the impression that you are poor. Don't take any pictures in any ghetto looking houses or in any cheap clothing.

What the picture says about your lifestyle

Lifestyle is important to women because it gives them an idea of what life will be like if they end up dating you. You want to have pictures of you that show an interesting, exciting lifestyle. Upload a picture of yourself attending fun events like a ball, or cool party. You can also upload pictures of yourself traveling the world; there are not many women out there that don't dream of traveling and seeing new places.

You don't want to send any negative thoughts of your lifestyle to women. If you have only self pics in your bathroom, you will seem like you live a boring lifestyle. If you have only pictures of you and your friends playing video games, she will think that dating you will include hundreds of hours of boredom as she watches you play your games.

What kind of extra attraction triggers you can hit with a photo:

A photo can tell a girl so many good things about you. You should be using this in trying to make sure you can hit as many as possible and as well as possible. Here are some you should be focused on hitting:

Funny

Girls like guys with a sense of humor; you can use a photo to show her that you don't take life too seriously. You can use amusing captions under the photos or you can do something that is funny like impersonating a statue.

My friends and I have some pictures where we dress up as Mexicans with sombreros, sarapes and mustaches; it was hilarious and just a genuine good time.

Dangerous and fearless

Dangerous and fearless men are attractive to women. If you show a picture of you doing something dangerous, it will show that you are a fearless guy and it will make her attraction for you rise. That is two attraction triggers you will be hitting.

I have a picture where I'm in a cage with a wild tiger. I have used this a lot and I remember asking one of my favorite girls of all time:

"At what point did you know you wanted to meet me?"

"When I saw the picture of you in the cage with the tiger." She replied.

That picture had that much affect that it was the reason that a really hot girl wanted to meet me. You should always be looking for opportunities like this.

Adventurous

Girls like adventurous guys, if you go on any adventures, make sure to capture the moment with a photo. If you are taking a trip to Thailand or even going on a hunting trip, try using those moments to take a good photo hitting this and other attraction switches.

Interesting

There are many things that women want to do or didn't know were possible. Taking photos of any of these things will make you seem like a much more interesting guy, thus making her see you in a better light.

I have a photo of me swimming with dolphins. Most women love dolphins so they usually love this picture, on top of that it is just an interesting thing to be doing.

I have another picture on a rock next to the ocean with my arm stretched forward. A wave is hitting the rock and curving back outwards, it looks like I am causing the water to be pushed away from me; it's pictures like these that are gems for coming off as interesting.

Having Fun

Another important thing you want to show is that you are having fun. Having fun is different than being funny. You want to show that you are enjoying all these things that you are doing. Enthusiasm is addictive and when a girl sees pictures of you enjoying yourself, she will associate a feeling of enjoyment with you.

Pictures with Women

Women want men that are attractive to other women. They want to know they are with a guy that will make other women jealous. You want to use this to your advantage and take photos with hot women. The more attractive the woman in your picture, the more attraction the girl will feel for you when she sees it.

However, you don't want to overdue this because you don't want to come off as a player. Using pictures with women requires walking a tight line.

One of the things I like to do is use a picture where I have the girl cropped out, so you can just have an idea that she is an attractive girl, but you are not trying to “brag” about it because you are cropping her out. If a girl asks you about it, just say it was your ex. The idea is to seem like a guy who commits, while still hitting this attraction trigger.

More Attraction Triggers

Many others covered in my books Understanding Sexual Attraction: What Makes a Woman Want You

All of your pictures should have multiple positives; for example:

- Your face looks good, good body language and you are doing something dangerous.
- Your body and face look good.
- You show you have money and with great body language you are doing something funny.

You want to choose your best possible pictures showing the best possible you, so make sure to hit as many of those attraction triggers as possible. Keep in mind that there are negative attraction triggers. If you have a picture that looks like you live in the ghetto or your body language is especially bad, you want to try to stay away from showing anything unattractive in your photo because it will kill attraction.

Don't use photos where you are too serious

Women judge men differently than men judge women. Women won't care if the girl looks like she's having fun if she looks smoking hot. Women, however will care. If you have a photo that you look serious or boring, she will wonder why you uploaded it. It's just not socially attractive.

Show positive emotions

If your face shows no emotion whatsoever, then it is a boring face. Women are creatures of emotion and if you don't show emotion, you become boring to them. When you can choose any pose in the world, you should not choose a boring one (unless it's a joke). Instead you want to show positive emotions: confidence, desire, intrigue, happiness, joy, cockiness, awe, deep thought and almost any other positive emotion out there. You want your picture to tell a story and, because women are so in tune with emotions, this is the right way to do it.

No “Say Cheese” Smiles

I cannot stress this enough, unless you are VERY good looking, a “say cheese” smile where you are showing all your teeth will not look attractive on you. Why? Because the say cheese smile is actually a submissive smile. It's the kind of smile somebody will use when they are trying not to step on somebodies toes. It's too fake and too commonly used to help you in any way. A smirk is always the better choice. You can mix it up with other looks, but they MUST be confident looks.

Photoshop

There are plenty of women who use this to improve their appearance. If you use Photoshop, it will give you an extra advantage. You can put on an extra 10 lbs of muscle, fix unattractive qualities and add attractive ones. All these things should be done so that she will never know the photos have been improved; you should only make changes that are slight. The idea is that you look good enough in a picture to get her attention, but when she finally meets you it will be a small thing so it won't matter enough to affect how she sees you.

If you are completely bald and you Photoshop in a full head of hair, she is going to be pissed; if you are thinning and you fill it in a little bit, it's something small enough she probably won't dock you on it.

Remember that your photos are THE MOST IMPORTANT aspect of online dating, so being lazy about your photos can be the difference between getting one date a week and 6 dates a day. If you don't know how to use Photoshop, it might not be the worst idea to dedicate some time to learning it. If you don't want to spend all that money and time on Photoshop, there is a website www.makemypicsexy.com where they will make your photo more attractive for only 3$.

Always look for opportunities for good pictures

The world is going digital and that includes the dating world. Even when you meet a girl in person, so many times you end up getting contact information where pictures matter like Facebook or Whatsapp. You need to change the way you think. Whenever you are in a situation where you can take a good photo that can hit a lot of attractive qualities, you want to jump on that opportunity. You lose nothing by going for it.

The Profile Picture

The profile picture is THE MOST important part of your profile. It is the most important because it is the only thing you can be sure that the girl reading your messages will see.

You want to look for a picture that hits as many of these as possible and at the same time it must be eye catching as a small picture.

Literally, a picture with bright colors is a good idea. Most really attractive girls that you message will barely glance at your small profile photo. She probably won't look at all your photos and it is rare that she will read your profile.

Because of this you must realize that the single most important part of online game is choosing the best possible profile picture. If girls aren't responding to your first message, you won't even get a chance to use some of the other things I will teach you in this book.

Catering Your Photos to Types of Women

There are different types of women that you will find on the internet (as talked about earlier). To attract different types of women, different types of photos are more affective. Here is a quick chart:

1. The normal girl - looking for a relationship

A normal girl is the most common and therefore the most balanced. You want a broad type of attraction triggers in your photos for this type of girl.

2. The slut - looking for a good time

To attract a slut, you want pictures where your face and body look very good. Shirtless pictures or anything sexy works really well on girls like these. On top of that take pictures of you with other girls and of you partying and living life to the max.

I actually went on a couple month gym spree with the sole intention of getting to a point where I could take some sexy looking pictures to use on dating profiles, Facebook, etc. It worked like a charm and now I have photos I can use for years to come.

3. The good girl - looking for her husband

To attract a good girl you want to have pictures with your family (nieces and nephews included) you also want pictures that show you are a grounded, responsible guy.

4. The bored girl - looking for validation and a way to kill time

To attract the bored girl, you need pictures that are really unique. Pictures of you doing anything extremely interesting or eye catching will work best because she may want to ask you about it.

5. The gold digger - looking to use a man for his resources

To attract the gold digger all you need are pictures that show wealth. Put up pictures of a nice car, you in a suit, fancy parties, etc.

6. The single mom - looking for a daddy for her kids

The single mom will want to know you are a grounded, stable person along with the fact that you like children. You should use similar pictures to attract the good girl, but with the single mom, you want to show a bit more that you have really lived your life.

Make sure to still try to hit as many other attraction triggers as possible even if you are focusing on specific pictures. Your body language should always be good in these photos. I like all women (although single moms the least). I feel like good girls make good relationship prospects and the rest could end up being a girl I really end up enjoying. For me, I try to have a good balance of as many attraction triggers as possible. It only took me about a year of really trying to have a great collection of photos.

Chapter 5: The Profile

The next part of the profile we will talk about is the actual description of you. This is not near as important as the photos, but it is still crucial. It is crucial in the stage after you have caught her interest from your pictures, because only at this point will she have the curiosity to read your profile.

You will not have enough time to show all your positive attributes while messaging her and you don't want to spend so much time doing this over and over again in messages, so the profile helps you out here. You can use it to convey as many positive attributes about yourself as possible.

Showing positive attributes

The same positive attributes that are attractive in photos are still attractive in words. One very good idea (that very few men know about), is to share a story about yourself. The point of your story should be something funny, but hidden in all that text should be you adding in positive things about you. You can mention an ex-girlfriend, you doing something that takes a lot of balls or something that is really interesting.

This is a lot more effective than simply listing: I tell funny stories, I have a sense of humor, I have no fear and I do interesting things. You said all those things by telling that story. Not only did you tell her those things in the best way possible, but you gave her something interesting to read.

From positive attributes, the next things you want to show in your profile are accomplishments.

Accomplishments

One of my most successful profiles was one where I literally made a list of accomplishments, most of which were phrased in the best possible way. Sure it was bragging, but it was a solid hook that made girls want to get to know me.

I put things like "I have written X amount of books." or "I have travelled to X amount of countries." You can use any accomplishment in your life that is attractive to women: played sports in high school, valedictorian, your IQ, etc.

If you don't have many accomplishments, you can add positive attributes about yourself. That being said, introducing accomplishments (like I just talked about with positive attributes) in story form is a bit more effective. The advantage of choosing a list over a story is that the lazy girls that won't read the story can be hooked quickly. I would suggest doing a list AND a story showing these positive things.

Don't lie, exaggerate

Many guys from online dating websites shoot themselves in the foot by lying because when they do finally meet the girl she will find out what they lied about and lose all attraction. Other guys shoot themselves in the foot by telling the truth, they are so brutally honest about themselves that they tell the girls their flaws right away, without showing their strengths first. The sweet spot in there is to only tell positive things about yourself, then, to say those positive things in the best possible light. Sometimes when you do this you want to exaggerate. If you exaggerate too much it becomes an obvious lie, so just do it a bit. In the next few paragraphs I will show you how.

Your age

You may be 32 years old, and you are trying to land girls in the 18 to 25 year old age group. To do this you want to be a bit younger, so under-exaggerate a bit. Say that your age is actually 30. It's enough that you can talk your way out of it (I was rounding), but not enough that she will be pissed and felt she was completely lied to.

Your height

If you are 5'9, put that you are 5'11. If she one day calls you on it, just say that it's how tall you are in some shoes. Adding two inches should be standard if you are under 6'.

Don't mention things that aren't positive

As previously mentioned it's important not to be overly honest. Choose the things that you want to say. You are not lying if you choose to omit information about yourself, it is your right.

Your income

If you don't make a lot of money you can either exaggerate a little bit or chose not to mention anything about it at all. If you do make a lot of money, don't feel shy about saying it. Just make sure you only release that information in ways that will not be seen as bragging (when a website asks your income, in a story or when they ask what you do).

Smoking and drugs

These things are better left untouched. There is no reason you should make a girl not want you from a simple thing like saying you smoke or do drugs. When it comes to this, don't answer. You should never cut off the number of girls that will be interested in you (contrary to other advice out there).

Children

This is one I feel every man should be proud of, that being said, it's better to omit this information if possible. Some girls aren't looking for single dads.

Say Your Preferences, Never Completely Disqualify

There may be certain things that you don't want in a girl, it's actually a good thing to mention them (because it shows you are not desperate for any girl you can get), but you want to say it in a way that shows it is a preference and not a rule. You never want to hurt a girl's pride, because even if it helped with attraction, sometimes pride has more pull.

Make your profile mysterious

After all this is done, you still want to omit information. You want to create questions (or hooks) about yourself that they will want to know. Here is how I have done this in the past: "I have written a couple books, but I won't give up the titles or my pen name so easy." This works because I am saying a DHV, but at the same time I am creating a bit of mystery about what types of books or which books I have written (I rarely tell them the titles). Here is another idea:

“I spent some time abroad and disappeared off the map, but I am back now.”
It doesn’t have to be perfect, it just has to leave out a bit of information that will make her want to ask you about it.

How I have used the words of a profile

As most of you know, I have written 6 books; I consider this an accomplishment and after listing that as one of my accomplishments I would get tons of messages similar to:

“What are the names of your books?”

I would reply that I only reveal that information to people that I really know. It would hook their curiosity and then it would give them incentive to get to know me. The list of accomplishments helped me get this message A LOT and as most of you know, if you want success, a girl messaging you first is worth ten girls that you message first.

Chapter 6: Who and When to Message

Choosing who and when to message are important things when using a dating website. It's something a lot of people don't think about, but knowing this information can save you a lot of time.

What time to log on

There are certain times on dating websites when there are more girls on than usual. When is that time? The morning. I don't know why it is, but women get on dating websites a lot in the morning and men more late into the night. If you want to be competing with fewer men, all you have to do is set your alarm and start spitting online game a little earlier.

Choosing who to message

Choosing who to message is important because time is an important commodity. To make sure that you don't waste your time messaging the wrong girl, let me show you some things to look for while you are looking at their pictures.

If they look like model shots

If they look like professional photo shots, you should be careful. When dealing with the most attractive girls on the internet, you will run into a lot of fake profiles. The people running these are less attractive women and gay men. You can use www.tineye.com to check to see if the photo was taken from the internet. However, the easiest way to find out if it is really her is to get her Facebook (because it's something you must build over time) or Skype (so you can webcam). If she makes excuses for both of these, it's time to move on.

Upward angle shots

One of the best ways for a bigger girl to make her body look thinner is by taking a picture from an upward angle. If you see a girl and all her photos are from an upward angle pointing down, she is trying to hide a weight problem.

Only 1 angle

Sometimes you will notice that ALL of a girl's pictures are from only one angle. There is a reason she doesn't have more angles, it is probably because she is only attractive from one angle. You could very easily waste a lot of time on a girl like this who you will not be attracted to when you finally meet.

Only selfies and only in her room

This usually shows a type of anti-social behavior. Girls, who never leave the house, usually have some type of reason that it's the case. Also the fact that she doesn't have anybody else to take a picture of her also raises a flag. This could mean a number of things, most of them bad. It could be that she is extremely bi-polar or has no social skills because of a disorder.

Taken years ago

Cameras are getting nicer and nicer, if you notice that a picture is taken with a low quality camera (and she is not poor) then it usually means that that picture was taken years back.

When you finally meet her she could look much older.

No pictures showing her body

You may run into girls that only have close-up shots of her face. Doing this she could be hiding any number of things about her body, so make sure to ask for more pictures.

Use these as flags not rules

You may find that some of these girls have pictures like these for a reason (not showing her body because she likes her face so much or only taking selfies because she just enjoys it), so you should use these as red flags. It doesn't mean there is a huge problem, it is just a flag that there could be. Ask to cam or for their Facebook to get a better idea how these women look.

Online dating is math

Take all these things into account, but don't be too anal about it yet. You will end up seeing more pictures or you will webcam with them before meeting.

You must understand that online dating is math. You may need to message one hundred girls to hook up with five.

You can be having multiple conversations, so if she shows some positive qualities that you like, you should always push forward.

Chapter 7: The First Message and Subject Line

The first message and subject line is so important because it is the second part of whether or not they will respond to you (after your profile pic).

Because the profile picture is more important (assuming you chose an excellent one) there is a tactic I like to use that sets me up well for getting her number later. This tactic is to use the most simple opener as possible.

“Hi”

Opening with a simple hello may seem boring, but it is also the ultimate form of aloof while still messaging her. Girls like aloof men, so the less work that it seems you are putting into it, the more attractive you will seem.

“H”

This is an even more aloof opener that shows you are too aloof to even finish writing the word. This works best on more attractive girls that are used to getting novels for first messages.

Keep in mind these will only work if you have a really good profile picture that shows good value and is interesting, if you do not, then you should try an opener with a hook.

Interesting hooks

“hey i just arrived in your city” (hey, I'm new in town)

This works because girls like things that are new and interesting. I almost think it hits the “grass is always greener” type psychological belief. It also shows that you aren’t some guy from very far away that will be wasting her time because he will never actually move there.

“hey i just arrived in your country”

If you are pipelining (setting up internet dates before you travel to a new place, so there will be girls waiting for you), then you should open by letting them know that you are already there or are about to arrive. They will like the idea of being the first person to meet you. Airport meet up is actually one of the best places to meet a girl.

“hey you look like my friend, I think you two might be related”

This will hook her curiosity. She will want to know if you know her sister or cousin or at the very least, how this other girl looks.

I bet I know which celebrity everybody tells you that you look like

This is another one that will hook her curiosity about herself. Most women have a strong interest in celebrities and she will feel a need to know which one you think she looks like.

“hola como estas” to somebody from a Latin country (to be used with any language).

Using this may seem corny, but to them it just sounds like the greeting they have known all their lives (and probably miss). It’s a good way to enter into a conversation.

Humor Hooks

“hey i live in my mom’s basement and i want to know if u want to go on a date with me . I'll have to ask my mom if it's ok though.”

This one will make her laugh, but you should only use it if your profile shows that this is obviously not true.

“our babies would be so good looking”

This one I learned from an internet forum and it gets laughs from most girls. You just have to make sure it doesn't get weird by not mentioning anything more about getting her pregnant.

“Wow. You're almost as good looking as me.”

I have found this one to work REALLY well on bombshells. It works well because it is clear she is beautiful and you are saying that you have her beat. It's cocky and it's funny. Just make sure not to use this on less attractive girls because it could hurt their pride.

The point of the first message

The point of the first message isn't just to get a response. You can say some outrageous line that nearly every girl will respond to, but why does it matter if she will never let you go any further?

The point of the first message is to set yourself up well for her giving you her contact information and eventually to meet up for a date. An outrageous line will only make it harder to get her contact information, even if you do get a response. Be thinking about the big picture, you aren't doing online dating to only get responses to your messages.

Continuing the hook into attraction building

The beginning of your conversation is the most crucial because it is the point where she will most likely stop talking to you. You must choose your words carefully at this point and that is why I will show you my system.

Most girls will respond with something along of two things:

1. Hi, How are you? (Responding and asking how you are)
2. Hi (responding)

If she responds and asks how you are you can reply the normal way, but you also want to add in another hook. For example:

“I'm good. I just got back from Spain and you?”

This is good because it hooks her into asking you what you were doing in Spain. You can use this idea with a number of things. Or you can try this:

“I'm good. I have been checking out your city and you?”

This is good because she will wonder where you are from and how you like her city.

If she just responds with “Hi” then you can introduce yourself and ask her how she is doing.

“Hi how are you? I'm Nicholas.”

This works a bit better than Hi, how are you because it's filled with twice as much information in a formal way. Also, a name can trigger a memory; whether or good or bad it will make her think more about the message and more about whether she wants to continue talking to you.

When she responds with:

“I’m good and you? Nice to meet you Nicholas.”

Just use the same types of hooks from the previous paragraphs to keep the conversation going.

“I’m good. I just got back from Spain and you?” etc.

Chapter 8: Continuing the Conversation

From here the idea is to get her contact information, by talking her long enough to make a connection, but not too long as to be inefficient and risk the possibility of her getting bored with the conversation.

Do not ask difficult questions

At this point in the conversation you may start asking her about herself, but you need to be careful not to ask questions like:

“What are you doing?”

“What do you do for fun?”

The reason you don’t want to ask these questions is that they are a chore for her to answer. You can ask these questions after getting her contact information but for now you want to ask her questions that she can simply answer. If she’s really interested, she will choose to go into a lot of information or ask you these questions.

You want to think about this part of the conversation from her point of view:

“Well, I just met this guy and he seems cute, but there are tons of cute guys messaging me. Oh, he is asking difficult questions I have answered a hundred times today; I’m bored of this guy.”

She hasn’t built up enough of a connection with you yet where she will want to invest in you, so at this point you must keep your questions simple.

“Are you from here?” It’s a yes or no question, but if she wants she can continue on with it.

Ask questions with your statements

After you ask a question, you want to say something about yourself that pertains to that question.

“Are you from here? I just moved here, but I would have to say the people seem a little... :).”

There, I asked her a simple question and then I said something that peaks her curiosity. She will wonder if it’s something good or bad and now you have her asking you questions; which is right where you want her.

Even if it doesn’t peak her curiosity, she only has to respond with yes or no and you can keep the conversation going without seeming too needy.

If it doesn’t work, you can make another statement like:

“Yeah I moved here to expand my business and I’m learning that the locals are pretty friendly.”

Here you bragged about being a business owner (DHV or Demonstration of Higher Value). This will make her more attracted to you, then you let her know that you weren’t hating on her city with your previous comment.

The idea of these questions and statements is to try to hook her. You try to get her “chasing” you. At this point she is much more likely to give out her contact information and it will set you up well when you ask to set up a date.

Get her chasing you

To do this you will start out asking her questions throwing out bait like I have said. Then once she bites on something, you become more aloof with her and she will start being the one initiating the questions. A lot of times you can get the girl to ask you for your contact information or to meet up by using this.

Focusing on DHV's, humor and being normal

From here you just want to throw out DHV's, show you don't take life too seriously and honestly... just be normal. She is subconsciously testing you at this point, to see if you seem like a lunatic or somebody that will make her regret giving out her number.

You can talk about travel, adventure, accomplishments or whatever will make her see you in a positive light.

Don't get sexual at this point, don't get too cocky or too bold, just play it safe because part of what she is looking for after she knows she is attracted to you, is if you are normal.

Ask questions about her that are positive things about you

You want to ask questions that you can answer about yourself in a positive way, for example if you are tall you can say:

"How tall are you?"

She will usually respond with this type of response

"5'1 and you?"

Here you respond with your attractive height and it's a DHV without seeming try-hard. This also works the other way around.

Don't ask her questions that are negative things about you

If you have negative things about yourself, for example; you are poor, then you don't want to ask her what she does for a living because most the time she will ask you the same question back. You want to lead her to asking only the questions that you want to answer and those are the questions that you can answer with something positive about you.

When she asks a question about you that shows something unattractive

If she asks a question about you and the answer is something unattractive, you have three options:

1. Agree and amplify: you turn the question into a joke (making it fun and dodging the question).

"What do you do for a living?"

"I wax dolphins."

2. Dodge the question: you just bring something else up. You make the rules in the conversation and if you don't want to answer something, you don't have to. This can also help you seem more mysterious.

"What do you do for a living?"

"You know 'her name' you are a very curious girl. How old are you?"

3. Exaggerate: There is a difference between exaggerating and lying. A girl will forgive you for exaggerating in the future (if you want a serious relationship) much easier than if you straight up lie to her. So respond to her question with a part of the truth and then push it into something very attractive. Try to be vague.

“What do you do for a living?”

“My patients wouldn’t like me to disclose that information ;).”

You may be a male nurse, but she is going to fill in the blanks with you being a doctor. It’s hiding some of the truth, but it’s not a lie. This will make you seem much more attractive and in the future when she has strong feelings for you, her learning the truth won’t make her hate you.

Call her a girl, not a woman

Calling her a girl is much better than calling her a woman. It doesn’t matter how old a girl is, she is a girl... not a woman. Calling her a woman will put you in the wrong mindset to start gaming her. You have to accept that she will do things that don’t make sense and that are not mature at times. If you are ready for them, you will handle them much better than if you aren’t expecting them.

Calling her a girl when talking to her will help to put her in the right mindset. Girls want to be dominated in relationships (Don’t believe me? Read the most popular book for girls in the last three years: 50 Shades of Grey). Use that word to help them see you as the one in charge and leading the relationship.

The hook is everything

You must understand that no attractive (not desperate) girl will want to get to know you without her biting on one of your hooks. Most guys think that their hook will just be their face in their pictures. If you’re not model good looking or the top 1% (I’m not), you will have to hook an attractive girl with something other than your looks. That is why it’s important to put a lot of work into your pictures and profile and it is important that you are throwing out hooks or strong dhv’s about yourself while you are in your first stages of talking with her.

Chapter 9: Asking for contact information

Once you feel she is comfortable talking to you, now is the time to ask for contact information. You don't want to just say "What is your Facebook?", you want to make it seem like the only way she can continue talking to you is to give out her number, Facebook, Whatsapp, etc. You can do that by making one of the following statements:

"I don't use (dating website) very often, do you have (number, Facebook, Skype, etc. Whatever you want)?"

This works because you are letting her know it will be a while until you log back on, so if she doesn't give her info it will be hard to keep in touch. Also, it lets her know you are not an online dating junkie (not attractive to women).

Or you can say:

"I have to go, do you have (number, Facebook, Skype, etc. Whatever you want)?"

This is just letting her know that you must go and that the two of you can continue talking another way.

It's important that you have showed her you are normal, or at least not weird, so she will have no second thoughts about giving out contact information.

After getting contact information

After getting contact information, you want to act on it immediately while you are fresh in her mind. You want to continue the connection building you have started right away. If you wait too long (a week) the attraction and connection building will have to start all over.

I can't tell you how many girls I have lost because I didn't immediately start building a connection after I got their contact information. These are girls that were interested, but I was so busy I didn't think I had time or want to start that process.

If she stops responding

When a girl does not answer your question the first time, you can ask something one more time. If she ignores you a second time you should forget her. Messaging her more will just push her away; your best hope is that as she's looking over old messages she finally decides to reply. However, if she seems like a goner, you lose nothing by asking for her contact information.

Chapter 10: Choosing whether to ask for Skype, Facebook, Number or Whatsapp

Each one of these methods takes a different type of game and you should choose two of them to ask for (in case she doesn't have the other one). You should choose the ones that will make you seem the most attractive. Here is a quick rundown of how you use each one.

Skype: If you have excellent body language (Read The 9 Laws of Attractive Body Language), this is your best choice. The majority of smoking hot girls I have pulled from online game, I have been able to webcam with.

Facebook: If you have a Facebook with a lot of friends, attractive pictures and that shows a lot of value, choose this. You can also use webcam through Facebook.

Calling and texting: If you have a good voice (deep, clear, slow) then you should always push for a way to call her and talk with her. You should not push for texting.

Whatsapp: In Whatsapp you will use strategies from most of these (except webcam). You will use voice messages to make a connection with your voice, messaging her to set things up and attractive photos of yourself. If you have a good balance of these things, push for Whatsapp.

Chapter 10a: Skype strategy (or webcam strategy)

The whole point of asking for her Skype is so that you can show value by webcamming with solid body language. However, thanks to billions of horny men, women won't open up their webcam very easily. They have seen too many surprise penises.

Getting her to webcam

Now to get past this, there are two options:

1. Continue rapport through messages and when you are actively chatting, then ask for the webcam.
2. Send a Video Message. This is used to show them that you just want to talk and that you are a guy with great body language.

Setting up the webcam the right way

Next you will want to set yourself up to webcam with her.

First you want to do a test run. Open up options and then go to webcam so you can see yourself. Then you want to make yourself as attractive as possible:

Make sure your hair looks good.

Put on a decent looking shirt.

Put the camera at an angle that makes you the most attractive.

Dim the lights to get rid of small flaws in your skin.

Do a quick workout to get a light sweat and bulging muscles.

Knowing how to act on webcam

Now that you are ready to webcam, you must know what you will say and, most importantly, how you will say it. I will tell you THE most important body language law to use while webcamming and that is smiling the right way.

To smile the right way you want to make sure your eyes are 100% smiling while your mouth is in a smirk. You can use this a lot of the time, especially if you are giving off a fun vibe.

Try to tease her about something she did or is wearing. Let her know you are not taking anything seriously. Don't make jokes trying to impress her, make jokes trying to make yourself laugh. You are there just having fun. When girls see a guy that does this, it's a game changer.

Body Language

Focus mostly on your body language, because if you are doing it right you won't need to be clever or witty to get the girl. Think about a high value guy, he doesn't care about impressing any girls so he won't be putting in the effort to blow her mind and neither should you. They just depend on their status and their body language that reflects that status.

To show this high status body language, keep a near constant eye smirk on your face. When you are doing the eye smirk you want to sometimes smile with your eyes and other times with your eyes and mouth. The more you practice it the better you will become. In my opinion this eye smirk is the male equivalent to the power of cleavage from a woman. Don't underestimate this.

You also want to make sure your chin is up while talking to her. If you are hunched over or in a strange position fix it. You want to be in a position where your shoulders are back and your chest is protruding. You also want to be sure to be holding constant eye contact with the webcam.

In fact, I would suggest spending most of the time you webcam with her looking at yourself instead of at her. First, this will help you master your facial body language because you will be able to watch yourself get better and better with it. Second, it's good because it will keep you from doing anything un-attractive while talking to her. Most guys do tons of unattractive things and because they aren't watching themselves, they never notice. This will help you notice.

Building the relationship

Spend some time getting to know each other and building a connection. Learn more about her and let her learn more about you (stick to positive things or DHV's). Try to throw in a couple teases every now and then (mixed with a nice smirk).

You want to spend some time talking with her. By spending time talking to her you are letting her invest in you. She is doing online dating so she has plenty of men wanting to talk to her, she won't be wasting her time webcamming with somebody that doesn't interest her so let her continue investing more of her time in you.

Fun things to do while webcamming

I have found plenty of fun things to do while webcamming that have helped me build a deep connection with women I have never met.

Your song

One thing you can do is put on cool music. It's best if it's something really catchy that's not too popular. Do a little "chair dancing" or "bed dancing" just to show that you are the type that lives in the moment. Don't be afraid to laugh at yourself.

Pick a song you really like and listen to it multiple times. Relate the story to yourself and the girl. For example; one of the songs I like to use has the lyrics "I can't forget your wet kisses." I've never met her, so you would think I couldn't relate that to our relationship, but I can. I can describe to her the feeling of how I imagine kissing her; living it in my head. Then I can tell her how good she tasted and that now I can't forget her wet kisses. She will think it's funny and cute and now she has anchored a catchy song to you. You can bet she will listen to that song again and every time she does, she will relive those emotions that she felt with you.

Sleep together

Something you can do to solidify the connection that the two of you feel and make her yours, is to say

"I want to sleep with you."

"What?" She will reply, thinking the obvious.

"I want to fall asleep while camming with you."

I know it sounds corny, but it's the type of thing you want to do to build the type of connection where she will do anything to meet you and, once you do meet, she will be yours because all the work is done.

Snap Photos

Snap a photo of her from your phone while she is talking. Because she wasn't expecting the photo, it will usually be a little awkward looking. Show her the photo (in poorer countries I use it as a way to DHV from my Iphone 5) and tease her a bit about it. If you do it right, she will do the same thing to you and it will become a game.

Ask for the date

Next you want to ask for the date, the following chapter will have a guide for the best ways to ask for the date.

Why webcamming works so well

Luckily for you, most guys have terrible body language so you will stick out in the sea of internet men like a huge diamond. On top of that, in her mind you will go from being a picture to a human being after she finally sees and interacts with you.

My stories about webcamming

There are too many stories to remember where webcam game has surprised me, from girls wanting to get naked within ten minutes to girls that were much hotter than I expected, but I will give you one typical example:

I had been able to get the contact information of a beautiful girl. She had the typical "hot girl" body and face. She is the type of girl people say you won't find on a dating website. I had gotten her Skype, but when I tried messaging her on it, she would not respond.

I messaged her a few times over two months, but she was just not interested. I distinctly remembered her even a month later. She had a beautiful face that was hard to forget. I wanted at least a shot with her. So here is what I did.

I decided to send her a video message. I made the video message with a fun vibe just letting her know that it would be cool to chat. I remade the message three times, making it as perfect as possible, before finally sending it.

I waited, hoping for a good reaction... nothing.

An hour later I heard the normal Skype message sound and I opened the application. She had responded.

"Hi Nicholas!"

I ended up webcamming with her and then a couple days later we were on a date and then in bed. She was a beautiful girl, although a little arrogant. The only reason I was able to get her was because of webcam game. It's an option every guy should be able to turn to.

Chapter 10b: Facebook strategy (or picture and friends strategy)

Now Facebook should ONLY be used if you have spent a lot of time building it up. If your Facebook has a lot of attractive photos of you doing fun and interesting things, you can use it. However, if those pictures only have 2 or 3 likes, it's going to make the girl think there is something wrong with you.

Facebook reveals a lot of information about you and makes you more accessible to her, which can kill the romance. I would suggest only using Facebook only if you have a really well built up profile or if you aren't sure how attractive the girl is (because she only uploaded a couple photos) and want to get a better idea of how she looks and if she is weird (you can also tell this by the types of pictures she has and how many people like her photos. If they are only guys, that's a red flag).

Webcam

You can use webcam chat on Facebook as well. If possible, you want to take the opportunity to get her on webcam. Use the same advice from the Skype webcam guide.

Being online too often

As I said before, being online too often makes you too accessible and it can lead girls to believe that you have no life. If you still want to spend a lot of time on Facebook, just turn off the chat.

Messaging the girl

You should message her right when she adds you. While messaging her you want to work on building a connection; you will read more about building a connection later on in the book.

Chapter 10c: Calling and texting strategy

If you go for getting their number, you can call and text them. You want to use this strategy if your voice is one of your strong points; deep, clear and slow (The 9 Laws of Attractive Body Language). You can text a girl when you get the number, but you will use that as a last ditch effort.

When to call

You may have heard that you should give it some time, but when getting a number from online dating you want to call her when she is free and possibly bored. This is usually right after you got her number, if she wasn't bored, she probably wouldn't be chatting on a dating website. If she says that she is busy at work or something call later at a time when she will be home. Don't try to call her more than once a day.

When to text and what to say

Sometimes girls won't answer a call from an unknown number; if she doesn't answer your call or send you a text asking who you are, this is when you go to text game. Just do normal texts showing that you are a normal guy. Keep them short so you don't come off as try hard. Many guys will try to create attraction through text. This is a big mistake, it may be possible that you can pull this off, but it's much more effective to use other social networks to do this and in a more personal manner.

What to say when you call

When you call, just introduce yourself. Try to throw in a joke and ask what she's doing on X day. The whole time you should be focusing more on how your tone of voice is than what you are actually saying.

If she's not biting and doesn't seem interested, now is the time to turn on other charms. You have her on the phone and it will be your best shot at creating attraction with her. Show you don't take life seriously by teasing and joking around. Throw in positive things about yourself and on top of it all, make sure your voice is attractive (body language study).

For a complete guide on what to say to a girl to create attraction check out The Perfect Conversation.

Chapter 10d: Whatsapp strategy

Whatsapp has become more and more popular. It's a free messaging application (after the $1.99 to install) where you can send photos, videos, and voice messages. These extra features are what make Whatsapp a great way to create attraction.

Photos

The most important part of your Whatsapp is what profile picture you have. Follow the picture guide from "Chapter 4: The Pictures of Your Profile" to choose it. Then, while messaging these girls, it's important to have a good collection of pictures to send of you doing interesting things. You may want to get a better idea of what the girl you are talking to looks like; you can ask her for her pictures, and afterwards, she will usually ask you for some of yours. This is a good transition into making yourself seem more real in her mind, which is one of the most important parts of online game.

Voice Messages

The next part you can do to make her see you as more than just a photo is to send her voice messages. It is better to communicate with these than by messaging. Remember to keep your voice deep, clear and slow. Doing this will help her build a stronger connection to you and your voice. As you can imagine it's much easier for a girl to anchor feelings to a voice than to text on her cell phone.

Videos

You can also take a video of yourself and send it to her. You can take a video of you just saying hello or you can send her a video of you doing something interesting or high value.

After you feel like she feels strong attraction and a connection towards you, you should set up the date.

Chapter 11: Setting Up the Date

When setting up a date, you want to be always paying attention to when she is feeling the most attraction towards you so you can ask for a date in that moment. Throughout a conversation there are times when she will feel more attraction for you than others; you want to try to set it up in the moments when it seems like she is REALLY into you.

How to ask

When asking for a date, you don't want to do it in a needy way, you want to do it in an aloof but effective way. To do this you will say:

"Maybe we can meet up some time"

This is a test. The point of saying this is to stay aloof and to gauge how interested she is in you. If there is not enough attraction, pushing for a meet up can hurt your chances.

From here she will respond in basically two ways:

1. She will instantly say yes and express interest in the idea.

When a girl likes you, there is almost nothing she won't do to meet you. If she says yes it means that she feels open to making a meeting happen. She is showing that she is interested and you need to jump on that immediately.

2. She will say maybe or no.

She will use an excuse like she is busy or in a relationship. She could be busy or in a relationship, but it is most likely that you haven't created enough attraction and a connection (The Perfect Conversation).

Time and date

Now that she has responded positively to your test statement, it's time to choose a time and date. You don't need to confirm that she wants to go on a date with you because you already know she wants it and confirming will just come off as needy. Here you will find out a day she is free by saying this:

"What are you doing on (day of the week at least 48 hours away)?"

If she responds that she is busy ask her about one more day of the week. If she is still busy, ideally, she will then counter with a day that she IS free. If she doesn't, then you should wait a week before asking the same questions.

If she responds that she is doing nothing to any of the days you can say:

"We can meet each other on that day." If you have been talking for a couple weeks add in the word "finally".

You say it with "we" because it is hinting that you both want to meet each other. You could say "You can meet me that day." but it could hurt her pride "what makes him think I want to meet him so bad." So the best thing to do is play the rapport building card and say it like you are both the prize and that you are just two people that want to meet each other.

I have experimented with hundreds of combinations (I have asked for A LOT of dates) and this strategy seems to be the most effective. Not doing it this way can make you come off as desperate and needy or overly arrogant and cocky.

It's important that you don't come off as needing to meet them; you want to come off like "Yeah it would be cool to meet if we are both free."

Choosing where to go

Now you want to say an idea about where to go and what to do. The first thing you should always try to do is set up a date at a place within walking distance of where you live; if there are no good places, at least try to pick a place close by.

The reason you want to be close by is because getting to sex without being in the right place (your place ideally) is VERY difficult. If you live close by you can use any of a number of excuses to stop by your place.

You want to get sex quickly for one simple reason: The power shift after sex. My friend THC wrote an article on this and the idea is that women have the power in a relationship up until sex, but after sex the power goes to men. It's not until you are in a serious relationship that women get that power back. It is for that reason that getting sex as soon as possible is so important. It is rare that a girl will punish you for pushing for sex, so don't worry.

I will never suggest to go to the movies, restaurant, etc. because it's expensive (I'm not rich), but most importantly because if a girl thinks you are trying to buy her, not only will she use you for a free meal, etc., but she will lose a massive amount of attraction for you.

So what I do is always choose something that is free or not expensive. Go sit at a bench in a park or maybe go have a cup of coffee. I'm good at having the right type of conversation so I will set up the date in a place where it is quiet and we can just focus on talking.

There are women out there will say "that was a cheap date." However, there is only one type of women that will say that, the type that believes money is the most important thing. On top of that, in the hundreds of dates I have been on, I have never had a girl complain about the date (at least to me), after the date. If she enjoys the date, it won't matter if she originally expected you spoil her with a night out. In fact, you will be in better position than if she enjoyed the date after you spent a ton of money at a fancy restaurant.

If your conversational skills aren't so good, bring along something to do: a ball, a board game, or anything.

If you have strengths, you can try to use them to show you have more value. For example; if you are a good dancer, you can take her dancing. Always play to your strengths.

I probably end up spending an average of 2 or 3 dollars per date. If you have to buy a girl, you are missing something. And a lot of the time, after spending all that money on a girl, she will just bounce afterwards. You NEVER want to spend too much money on a girl too early.

If she tries to bring a friend

Many times girls will try to bring a friend along; this is not good for you. This will make it much harder to build a solid connection with her while her friend is there. On top of that it will be tough to get her in bed.

So, you need a strategy to get her to come alone. THC came up with a line that works wonders. After she tells you she will be bringing her friend, respond like this:

"I'm going to be coming alone, so you should too."

This works because it shows her how unfair it is that she will be bringing somebody and you won't. She may respond by asking if you have any friends, you can just say that they all have gf's. Go on to say how you will be meeting in a place with lots of people, so she won't have to worry.

If she will only do what she wants

If she is dead set on only doing something she wants to do and not what you want to do for the date, you want to become totally aloof for about a week. You don't want a relationship where she is making all the decisions (trust me), so you are better off showing disinterest in meeting her for the next week to see if she cracks and accepts your date idea.

If she still holds the same stance after a week, you can either keep doing what you are doing and hope she cracks in the future or, if she is a girl you particularly like, you can go do what she wants.

If you go do what she wants, usually you will be out of your element, so you want to make the best possible impression and leave when your value is high. If you are comfortable in the situation, don't worry about spending all that time with her.

Cancelling and Flaking

When setting up dates you will encounter lots of cancelling. Don't let it affect you, in fact, when setting up a date you should only be half expecting her to show up. When she cancels, don't get mad, just say "ok". Your frame of mind is that "It would have been cool, but I have more things I can be doing." Letting a flake affect you will only make the meet-up less likely.

She will sometimes flake because she really can't make it, but usually it's because you haven't built enough interest, attraction and connection. Go back to trying to build an attraction and a connection to fix this. You also have the option of trying to get her on webcam to reducing flakes or to get NPI's or (Nude Picture Investments).

NPI's or Nude Picture Investments

An NPI is when you get a girl to either send you naked photos or get naked on webcam. The harder it is to get her to do this, the more she invests in you when she does. If she is slutty, an NPI doesn't mean as much. So when you see an opportunity to ask for a sexy photo, don't pass it up. It may be the difference from her flaking or showing up when you finally do set up a date. I have found that a girl that I got an NPI from will show up 90% of the time. 5% will cancel on the first or second date, but will show up on the second or third date. And the other 5% (the girls that give them to me easily) I will never end up meeting.

A word of warning, if you push for an NPI before you have a connection with the girl, you run the risk of pushing her away and losing her. Only push for it after you have attraction and building a connection out of the way.

I cannot stress enough the importance of going for the NPI when she is feeling the most attraction and connection with you and only after there is the foundation of a relationship between the two of you. The last thing you want is to scare a girl away by getting sexual too early online, a girl that would have happily met you.

I especially used this in the Dominican Republic, where I was able to have 15 girls waiting for me thanks to NPI's.

If they don't bite on setting up a date

If they don't originally bite on setting up the date, it's time to bring out the big guns:

Hooks for getting a date

At this point you can try some strategies that I have used to great success. You throw in a hook like:

“I’m much better looking in person.”

Or

“People say I have pretty cool eyes, because you can actually see them changing color if you look at them.”

They don’t have to be true because they are things that can be 100% from perspective.

These types of things can make her think you are too arrogant, so only use it if she doesn’t show much interest as an effort to create something. Remember you can’t win what you don’t risk losing.

I have actually used this line to land a rich Thai that I met online. She wasn’t seeming like she was interested in meeting me at all, so I told her that I was better looking in person and that it would surprise her.

Two days later while she was lying next to me in bed I asked her

“What made you finally want to meet me?”

“You told me you were much better looking in person; I really wanted to know if it was true.”

Still no?

If you have tried even more hooks, it’s time to go back to the basics. Here is where it’s time to make an internet connection.

Chapter 12: Strategies for Building a Connection

Before you are able to build a legitimate connection with a girl you must make sure there is attraction, but once she does you want to focus your efforts on developing strong rapport. This chapter will teach strategies for doing just that.

Building attraction

Before a girl can feel a connection with you (a non-friend connection) she must feel attraction. Make sure she knows many of the positive things (DHV's) about you. Make sure to tease her and show that you aren't needy and can live without her. Then you want to know what type of girl she is.

What type of girl is she?

By now you should know for sure what type of girl she is. She may even be a combination of the 6 types of girls:

1. The normal girl - looking for a relationship
2. The slut - looking for a good time
3. The good girl - looking for her husband
4. The bored girl - looking for validation and a way to kill time
5. The gold digger - looking to use a man for his resources
6. The single mom - looking for a daddy for her kids

You can now use that information while talking to her. If she is a single mom, start talking about how you love spending time with your nephews. If she is a slut, maybe it's time to start to have some conversational sex. If she is a normal girl looking for a relationship, talk about things that you miss about having a relationship that she will miss too. I have previously gone over some of this, but the importance of showing them that you are the man they want, cannot be stated enough.

There are always people that overdo something. If a girl tells you that she wants a boyfriend, don't let your next reply be "here is why I would make a good boyfriend." It is powerful to know what type of girl she is because she will not expect you to know it. If she expects you to know it, it loses a lot of its power.

The law of texting

There is a trick that you can use to gauge the interest that two people have in each other by simply opening up their text chat conversation. All you do is look at who is writing (or investing) more in the conversation.

A guy may think he's doing well because she is responding to every one of his messages, however, he is writing multiple sentences and she is responding with only a couple of words. He is chasing and he is the one more attracted to her.

You may notice that a girl is sending you multiple messages, even when you don't respond. The girl is definitely chasing and is VERY attracted to him.

To use the law of texting to your advantage, you want to make sure that you are not talking too much. After building a connection, you can try responding less and less. She will subconsciously pick up on the fact that you are losing interest in her and this will make her start chasing you (it will also make her feel more attraction). You should note that you do need to have a connection or this won't work. If you try this with a girl that doesn't feel much for you, she will just forget about you.

You can also use the law of texting to gauge her attraction for you. If she is currently writing a lot more than you are, it is the perfect time to set up a date.

Over the course of a conversation you want to be responding equal or less than she is. Just remember that first you may have to start out responding more so that you can set a hook and get a connection.

Establish a communication pattern

All a strong relationship really is, is two people that choose to interact with each other on a daily basis. If you want a strong connection with her, you want to establish something like that. However, you can only do this once you know she is attracted to you. With some girls, attraction isn't enough for going on a date with you so you should try for a communication pattern when that is the case.

Basically the more time that you two spend talking, the more you are investing in each other. When you invest in something, it will matter more to you. So by talking more with you, it will actually make you matter more to her (although make sure you are not saying things to kill attraction like "I haven't had a job in 3 years." "I have this fungus between my toes and it's turning purple. Is that normal?").

Hint at how a relationship will be with you

This is very key when building a connection. The reason I showed you the different types of girls you will find on the internet earlier in the book is because this will tell you what she really wants. At this point you should know for sure which categories she fits into and you can use it to your advantage.

If she is the type that just wants a boyfriend to cuddle up with and watch a movie, let her know that it's something you miss from when you were with your ex-girlfriend.

If she wants a guy to take her to the movies, talk about movies you want to see and how there is something special about going to the movies with your girl.

If she is really looking for sex, you can start getting sexual and do some "Sexting" and phone or text sex. You do this with pictures and with very descriptive words. Be very descriptive with how things feel to really turn her on.

"I can already imagine the feeling of my lips pressed against yours, as I slowly unbutton your jeans. The feel of your skin as I run my hand up your shirt, higher and higher makes me forget about everything in the world except for the two of us. The closer I get to your breasts, the more I hold my breath in anticipation." Then you can mention how you have a really high sex drive or something along those lines.

You get the idea. Talking like this can make a sexual girl travel hundreds of miles just to see you and for the other types of girls just think about what they want and start talking about it.

Don't say she's pretty at the wrong time

You can say she's pretty, but you have to do it in a way that's not going to make her think she's better than you.

First off you should only say this after you know she is attracted to you and you are trying to make a connection. Here are some of the things that you can say before you have made that connection:

“To me you are a cutie.”

This works because you’re not saying the entire world finds her attractive, just you. This will keep her from thinking she is too good for you.

In fact, I remember a particular situation where a girl kept telling me over and over again how attractive I was. Originally, I was attracted to this girl, but after her saying over and over again how handsome I was, I began to wonder if I was out of her league or if there was something wrong with her.

Girls will see this even more powerfully because other guys on dating sites will be saying that to them over and over again. Stand out and don’t let her think “Wow, he is cute, but he is complimenting me a lot, he must not go out with girls as hot as me. Am I out of his league?” Remember, every girl wants a guy that is just out of their league, not the other way around.

“You look good in pink.”

This works because you are not complimenting her, but more something about her. In this case her sense of style and at the same time you are giving her a tip. This will compliment her without pushing her towards thinking she is too good for you. You can use any line where you are complimenting something about her.

Don’t ever overuse these because that will be just as bad as saying “You’re the hottest girl on the planet.” The more times you say something, the more she will believe that you believe it. You should never say any of these things more than once or compliment her on many things in a short period of time.

Too much to put in this book

Building attraction and a connection is a HUGE part of dating and I can’t teach you even close to everything in a book about internet dating, so if you want to understand how to build attraction and a connection at any time with a girl, read my book The Perfect Conversation: Win Any Girl with Words.

Chapter 13: What to Do After Setting Up the Date

Once you have set up the date, you want to hit a good balance of aloofness (also so you don't mess it up by saying something to offend her or something unattractive) and interest so you are still on her mind.

Make sure to send her a message once every other day. Don't ask her about the date until you confirm about three hours before.

Unexpected turns on dates

Online dating is its own type of adventure. You really never know what is going to happen or how a girl will be when doing online dating. For me, it's part of what makes it so much fun, but you must know how to deal with these unexpected twists and turns.

She doesn't look like you imagined

Attraction is important in dating and if the girl doesn't look like she advertised on her page you should not feel bad about letting her know that and leaving. If she looks similar, it probably won't bother you too much (which is why I said it's ok for you to exaggerate as long as it's only slightly), so this means that she looks significantly less attractive than you imagined. Saying goodbye is the first option.

The second option you can do (if you are still a bit physically attracted to her) is to say "I have to run back to my house for something for work, you want to come? We can talk there." If she says no, well there's your out and you have an excuse. If she says yes, she will be back at your place and if she was there looking for sex you will easily be able to find out, without having to put in a lot of work.

If she brings a friend

If she brings a friend, it's an obvious problem. You can either tough it out or, as I like to do, spend two minutes talking to her using the best possible body language for that two minutes, then saying

"I would be interested to get to know you better, but I'm not looking for a friend. With three people like this it's a friend atmosphere, so if you are interested we can plan a date for just you and I. I should go."

Take your exit. You are showing a willingness to walk away, which is SO sexy to women and on top of it you are showing her that you mean business. If you did a good job in those first 2 minutes she will try to schedule another date where it's just you and her EVERY time.

Chapter 14: Scheduling and Managing Contacts

Scheduling and managing contacts may not seem important, but when you are dealing with larger amounts of women (like you should be after reading this book), it can mean the difference between getting the girl and never getting a shot with the girl.

Scheduling

The two types of dates

I have spent a lot of time trying to find the most efficient way to schedule. You have to take a lot of things into account. You must half expect girls to flake. This flake percentage goes down if you have developed a good connection with her or you have gotten an NPI (nude picture investment).

When you set up dates those are the two types of girls that you should take into account because of the flake rates of each type.

When you have not built a connection or gotten an NPI, you must assume that they have over a 50% chance of flaking. Because of that, you don't want to waste your time, so you schedule two of that type of girl at the same time.

This will greatly reduce the chance of you clearing a part of your day and not having anything to do.

You may have to flake on one of the two girls in the 1 in 4 chance that both show up, but it's better than you being the one that gets flaked on and affected. Because you might end up having to cancel one date, you want to schedule the one with your favorite of the two an hour to thirty minutes earlier. This will mean that your favorite will be the one you end up seeing if they both show up.

The other type is the girl that you have built a connection with or that you got an NPI or (Nude Picture Investment); a girl that you got to really invest in your relationship by taking the chance of sending a nude pic to you before meeting you.

I have gotten an NPI with over a hundred girls and I can tell you that these girls will really want to see you. Usually you need a strong connection before you can get an NPI from a normal girl, so they usually go hand in hand. There are girls that will give them easily to anybody; as a basic rule, the easier it was to get the NPI, the less powerful.

I have found that these types of girls flake only 10% of the time, so 9 times out of 10 you can count on them to show up to the date. That 10% is usually because of a legitimate excuse or, in under 5% of cases, she gives an NPI to everybody so it didn't matter or it has been a long time (months to years) since she gave it to you.

A word of warning: never rush an NPI. By going sexual too soon, you will risk losing the girl. You should only go for an NPI after you two develop some type of patterned relationship and it is very clear she is into you.

Because these types of girls only flake 10% of the time, you don't have to double schedule. You can, for the most part, expect them to show up on time.

So, when setting up dates you will have time slots for these types with a 10% flake rate and you will have the other time slots for girls you didn't make that much of a connection with, but agreed to meet you.

Even though this will reduce your flake rate by a lot, you should still have the mind set of “expecting” them to flake. Girls are flakey; it’s just the way it is. You don’t want them flaking to ever affect your mood, so always prepare for it ahead of time. Half expect them to flake and it will make it less likely to affect your mood.

Scheduling many dates a day

I have went through quite a few periods where I had 2 to 6 dates a day scheduled for long periods of times (a couple weeks to a month). When I’m in a new place and going girl crazy with nothing to do, this is what I end up doing.

To be able to handle such a hectic schedule you want to schedule dates at the right times. For me, because I would stay up later, I would wake up at about 10 or 11 am. That means that I would have three windows to meet girls: 12 to 4, 4 to 8 and 8 to 12 or later. If you are going for the hookup, this gives you two hours to build a connection and get her back to your place (should be within walking distance) and two hours alone with her to see if something happens. For me, there were certain types of girls that couldn’t meet at certain times of the day for various reasons (they live with their parents and have to be back, they have school, work. Etc.), so I would schedule them around their schedule.

If I had two girls that agreed to meet that I didn’t have that much of a connection with, I would always schedule them at the same time. If something happened and I was only able to get one for that date slot, I would schedule it, but expect nothing to happen and plan to work. If they showed up, great, if not, I already made plans.

I have taught you ways to get dates with a LOT of girls, this is a type of power, but it has its down side. Flaking and drama are the main things. This type of scheduling will keep you sane while dealing with so many girls at one time.

How far ahead to schedule

I have found that scheduling a date one to four days later works the best. Scheduling same day sometimes makes you seem desperate and scheduling too far away means you could risk them forgetting or losing their connection for you.

Every day I would schedule dates for the following 3 to 4 days. Almost always, my next two days were booked, so I would be look for free time in the open time slots that I had. It made me come off as aloof, I didn’t need the date and I was usually picky about the times. This seemed to work in my favor.

Meet on your terms

Many girls will only agree to meet on their terms, by that I mean that they will only meet you at a place that they choose and at a time when they want. You should never agree to this right away.

Her doing this causes three problems. One, you can’t schedule a date in a place that you are completely comfortable. Two, most likely the place won’t be within walking distance of your house. And three, you are letting her lead. Letting her lead is a problem because it will kill attraction that she has for you and, if you start out the relationship like this, it will mean that it will be harder to take control of the relationship and assume the role of a man.

You should fight this for about a week, if you really like her, you can finally agree. However, usually your take it or leave it attitude will win her over and she will agree to your terms.

Managing contacts

When dealing with large amounts of contact information, it's important to have a smart phone. You will be dealing with Whatsapp numbers, phone numbers, Facebooks and Skypes. A smart phone can put all this information in one place and make communicating through them very easy.

How to list contacts in your phone

I have used a few systems over the years and certain ones are better for certain situations, but here is a good system that you can use at any time.

First Name: (Name of account) (1-3 rating) (age)

Last Name: (City) (how I met them)

In the first name section I will put the name of their account and, if necessary, the name of the dating website I met them at. I do this because sometimes I will forget exactly how she looks and I can go search for them afterwards by that name of the website. If I meet them in day game or night game I will put the name of the place that I met them at.

The next part, I give them a rating based on how badly I want to meet them. 1 being maybe they have potential. 2 being sure I want to meet them. And 3 being that they are a priority to meet. This helps me give more leeway to the girls I prefer when I'm scheduling or talking with them.

Then, I will usually put their age. I put this because there are certain ages that I prefer, because I don't like to accidentally ask them over and over again their age, and because I can use a lot from how old they are to know how to act with them; an 18 year old is in a much different place than a 23 year old.

In the last name section I put whatever city they live in. This is perfect, because they will be arranged by city in your phone. So if you go visit a city, you have a nice list of girls that live there.

After that I will add how I met them. Sometimes I meet them online, sometimes in the day on the street and sometimes at night in clubs. It's good to be able to search for a girl met in a certain setting.

O = Online

DG = Day Game

NG = Night Game

Others = I won't put anything because I will remember them easier.

Calls from numbers you don't recognize

You will get plenty of calls from numbers you don't recognize. It could be for any reason like them using a friend's phone, they changed their number or maybe you didn't put their number in correctly when you met.

When you get a call from a number you don't recognize, you will be tempted to play dumb and wait for a clue, but they will pick up on this. All you have to do is say:

"Hey my phone recently got erased. Who is this?"

She will explain who she is and where you met her and you will walk the line of offending her and playing aloof like a champ.

Chapter 15: Pipelining Guide

Pipelining is when you set yourself up with dates before moving to a new city or country. It uses an example of how oil needs pipes, before the oil can flow. You will use the internet as your pipes to reach girls in a place you have never been. So that when you show up, oil (or seduction) is already to flow and all you have to do is turn it on and collect.

You will use a bit of a different strategy in pipelining because you will not be able to meet them until you arrive.

All the information prior in this book was also written for pipelining but here I will show you strategies for it specifically.

Maintaining girls

When pipelining girls, the hardest part isn't to get them to like you; the hardest part is getting them to like you and then maintaining that attraction until you arrive in their country/city.

If you are just starting out in pipelining you will learn the hard way that one day a girl would give anything to meet you and another day she wouldn't be interested if you were five minutes away.

This problem is usually caused when you let the attraction and connection die for whatever reason. It could be that you thought you had her, so you focused on getting new girls or that you have been really busy with work. Whatever the reason, it can turn a sure thing into a girl that won't meet you when you arrive.

One way to battle this is to keep checking in with her and create a daily ritual of communication. Daily communication is only affective when she is really interested in a relationship with you.

The other way, is something I have used to great effect. It's something that will let you not have to maintain the connection as much. This is something I have already talked about a bit, the NPI.

NPI or Nude Picture Investment

A Nude Picture Investment is where you get a girl to send you naked pictures of her or to have cam sex. This is important because it is a solid form of investment. They are taking a risk (that you won't put the pictures all over the internet) and they are doing something that is not in their comfort zone for you. After making such an investment, a girl would be foolish not to meet you after arriving.

These pictures should never be used to blackmail a girl into meeting you. You should never use the pictures to hurt the girl's life. If you do use these to blackmail a girl, you will not only make it much harder to get laid, but you will unnecessarily hurt the girl.

NPI's are so effective with pipelining because you can start pipelining months before, stop talking to the girl for a while, then pick back up almost exactly where you left off when you arrive.

Your ace in pipelining

Every girl wants to feel special. When you are about to arrive at a new place and you ask a girl to meet you at the airport because you want somebody there that you trust, you are going to get a MUCH lower flake rate. On top of that after you go to the airport, you will usually go straight to your hotel or home from there and she will accompany you. Just like that, she is back at your place with you.

When you pipeline, save this ace for the girls that you like the most. When you travel to foreign countries, girls worry constantly that you are messaging tons of other girls saying the same things. You can only meet one girl at the airport and she knows that. If she likes you, you have just secured a great first night in your new destination.

Letting them know you are there or are about to arrive

When you pipeline girls from other countries, a lot of these girls have had experiences with guys saying they will plan a trip, but never actually coming. You can skip ahead of every single one of these guys by simply stating that you have just arrived (this gives them hope that they can be your first girl) or that you are about to arrive and that you already have your plane ticket.

It's not a bad idea to mention this in the very first message that you send them because it will set you apart from so many other people so quickly. Of course the effectiveness depends on which new place you are going, but overall this will give you "the new guy" vibe, which almost always works in your favor.

Learning the language

A lot of times you are going to pipeline women that speak a different language than you do. I can't stress the importance of learning the language. When I was in Colombia, the better my Spanish became, the hotter the girls I ended up being with. It was a direct and obvious correlation. Every new girl I was with was more attractive than the last.

You can fake knowledge of a language online by using google.translate.com, but what good is that when you finally meet up?

I will show you how a trick to being able to game a girl in a different language, with only six hours of study. Here is what you do:

First, you write down in English a conversation that you would have with a girl in English. Then, you use somebody who knows the other language or google translate to translate that entire conversation into the language.

You can memorize this first ten minutes of conversation in six hours of study. This will make an excellent first impression on women (the first two minutes is when a girl decides if she would sleep with you or not) and will give you a bit extra to continue the threads of the conversation.

This is an effective way to be able to game a girl in another language quickly, but from there you should branch out learning the basics of the language and continuing to improve in that language. There is no replacement for fluency in their native tongue.

How long to say you will be there

Some guys will pipeline for a trip that will last for months, others for days; this creates a problem if it's the latter. The problem is that a lot of women don't want to be with a guy that will just leave them in a few days.

Now, the honest thing to do is to tell them the truth. You can do that or you can say this:

“Well I'll be checking this place out to see if I want to live here. If I like it, I could be staying here for a long time.”

This is most likely true (If you really like a place, why wouldn't you drop everything you are doing and move there?). On top of that this does two things in the mind of the girl, it tells her that if she wants you to stay, she must make sure that you have a good time and it leaves open the possibility for a serious relationship between the two of you. If she's the type of girl that is just looking for sex, then she will go out of her way to meet you because she knows you may only be here for a short period of time. It's the best win-win scenario that I have found while pipelining.

The other thing to say is simply that you are planning on living there. However, I have found that at the end of trips, when I say I'm about to go home I end up getting laid a lot more. So when you say that, you take away the “If I don't meet him I will never know what could have been” out of the equation.

Use your foreign value

Let them know you are an exotic foreigner immediately. This alone will not get you the girl; however, this makes you interesting. This is the type of thing that can hook a girl into wanting to spend a lot of time talking to you. You should never waste exotic value.

To do this you should make sure that you put your country of birth at the TOP of your profile. On top of that it's not a bad idea to use some English phrases, etc. Then, depending on where you are, you should entertain the idea of mentioning where you are from in the first message. This could be the perfect hook for her.

You should never make a profile that doesn't obviously show that you are from another country. These are the types of things that set you apart from the hundreds of other guys online.

It's not uncommon that people go to other countries and get laid quite a bit. The locals with the same level of game never achieve this because they don't have the exotic value. You could just be moving to a different part of your country, but you are still exotic. Don't ever waste this.

Cultural difference in gaming women

When you go outside of Western countries, you must tone down your typical type of game. You don't want to be cocky and a dick (things that work like magic in the states). You want to be honest and give sincere compliments.

You already have high value being from a Western nation, so you don't need to fall into a stereotype by being arrogant about it.

Using your natural nice guy game is a lot more effective in other countries than in western countries.

Culture

Every place you go to will have a different culture. It is your responsibility to learn about this before arriving so you won't seriously offend a girl by doing or saying the wrong thing.

For example; in Mexico it's not uncommon to walk outside and see multiple couples making out on the sidewalk in a 30 meter radius, but if you go to Thailand, you will have girls that are much more sexual, but will hardly ever be caught doing anything like that in public. By pushing towards a public kiss you can make her uncomfortable (especially during the day), where as in Mexico it will be just fine.

Use the other information from this book

Every tip in this book can also be used for pipelining. The begging part was written for men who want to date online in their own cities and men pipelining in new ones.

How I have used this

Before arriving in Dominican Republic, I had pipelined VERY well. I had 15 NPI's, I had my ace used on an attractive 18 year old girl and I had a lot of other blossoming prospects. I won't tell you the level of success I had in my first 24 days in the DR, but I will tell you this... ALL of that success in being with a very high number of women in a small amount of time was due to pipelining well, putting in the work and using the things I have taught you in this book.

Chapter 16: Online Dating is Like Farming

Just like everything else in life, math plays a part. The more time you spend looking for girls and building connections with girls, the higher the chance that you will find what you are looking for. Whether that is a new girl every day, a girlfriend so hot you will make all your friends jealous or the perfect girl for you to spend the rest of your life with, it requires work and doing the math so you will be taking luck out of the equation. Everybody that's willing to put in the work can get the girl he wants. To help you understand this concept, I will show you how online dating is like farming.

In farming, you must always start out tilling the land, so that the seeds can grow. With women, you have to have the ground work all laid out before other things can happen at an efficient rate. Growing in land that is not fertile and tilled can yield crops, but such a small percentage in comparison to what would happen if that land was fertile and tilled.

By reading this book and others you are laying the groundwork. You are making it possible that after talking to those women online, something will happen instead of just one in hundreds going somewhere.

When you are farming you have to plant the seeds or nothing can grow. It's the same with women; if you don't plant the seeds (or start meeting many girls), it doesn't matter how good you are with women or how good of a farmer you are, nothing will grow. If you have the perfect personality for a girl out there and you walk right past her without talking to her or you aren't online to message her, your relationship will never get a chance to grow, because the seeds were never planted.

If you want these seeds to grow into the crops that you want, you must make sure they are continuously getting water. You will start online dating and you will talk to a lot of women. I have had times where I was talking to over twenty five girls at one time (5 on text, 5 on Facebook, 5 on Skype, 5 on Whatsapp, 5 on the dating website) and I had probably a hundred prospects (girls in that place that I had their contact information). The problem is that if you don't continue to put work into these girls, nothing will come of it. These girls need watering and by watering I mean building and keeping a connection. Only then will they want to meet you.

After doing these things, you will have the crops you want or the relationship (at least dates) that you want. From here it depends on what you want, some farmers want a perfect pumpkin, but to get that perfect pumpkin he must do everything perfect and grow lots of crops. To get that special girl, you can't expect it will be the first girl you get a date with, chances are, you will have to date a lot of girls to find her.

If a farmer is just looking to make a profit, he will be thinking about growing as many crops as possible. This means planting a lot of seeds and watering all of them. A guy who's looking to hook up with a lot of girls is going to have to plant a lot of seeds and he's going to have to put in the work on every one of them. He must learn to do this efficiently so he doesn't waste his time. That is exactly what this book teaches: How to efficiently get dates with the top tier of women online.

There are other tactics I can teach you, but these ones are the best for quickly and efficiently attracting, building a connection and meeting the hottest girls the internet has to offer.

Don't spread yourself too thin

You understand that planting seeds (or meeting a lot of girls) is important to getting the results that you want, but one of the biggest mistakes that guys make with this is spreading themselves too thin. The amount of land you have limits the number of seeds you can plant. If you have gotten 100 Whatsapps and you try to make a connection with every single one of them at one time, do you think you will be able to? No.

I have tried to do this, but even without having to work or any other responsibilities, I was spreading myself too thin and if I slowed down on my prospects, I could have done much better.

How many girls you are focusing on should be chosen based on how much free time you have, you shouldn't ever be focusing on more than 10 girls at one time. Planting seeds, sure, but building a connection with so many girls at one time is very difficult. If you have only a little time, maybe three or four is all you can do. The objective is to make these girls feel special and build a connection, good luck doing that with a hundred girls at once.

Chapter 17: Extra Features on Websites

You should always be active with the extra features of a particular website. The more you are active with these things the more exposure you will get when women search and, as I have said before... a cute girl messaging you once is worth you messaging ten cute girls.

A girl that messages you first, not only sets you up well for finally getting a date, but it puts them in the position of chasing you. This means you just have to go into “don’t fuck it up” mode. You just show her you are a normal human being and a date isn’t far away. She is probably single and looking and because she was able to see your profile and she liked what she saw, now you could very easily be that guy.

Personality quizzes

If there are personality quizzes to take, take them. Although, while answering them you probably want to answer these questions like you imagine a woman that you are interested in would, so you can get better results. After all, exposure is very useful in online dating.

Meet people close by

If somebody is particularly close to you, there is a much better chance that she will want to meet up because it will be so easy. Use this to your advantage and target girls that are located nearby.

Any other feature

These extra features are meant to match people together and help jump start a connection. Don’t waste the many hours of those programmers, they are in it to help you get laid (so you will keep coming back and they will keep getting paid).

Chapter 18: Websites

Choosing the right website for you is an important part of online dating. I will show you a quick list of online dating websites in different parts of the world. A quick google search can help you find out more information.

USA, Canada and UK

POF

OKCupid

Eharmony

Match

Zoosk

Christian Mingle (for the guys looking for good girls)

Datehookup

Pipelining other countries

Badoo – All of Latin America and Parts of Europe. The ultimate pipelining website thanks to its broad reach.

Cupids – Just as useful as Badoo while pipelining thanks to its many websites for different parts of the world.

Tagged – All over the world

Other countries

A quick google search will list the most popular dating websites in your area. If there are women on it, you can succeed with what is in this book.

Final Chapter: Go Get Em

I have now showed you the ins and outs of online dating. I have showed you my tricks and secrets to getting girls. I've used this to get dates with hundreds of women (not exaggerating) and you can too.

Read over everything in this book, because it is the result of thousands of hours of trial and error. Don't try to reinvent the wheel, take what I have learned and help it get you to where you want to go much quicker.

I have learned from experience and from being able to see from her point of view like when I installed a key logger on my computer for all those years to see if the girls I was dating were honest with me. I wrote about it in the book: The Key Logger. What I learned from being able to see the online dating accounts of all the girls I dated was how many guys message these attractive girls, what types of messages get good responses and what types of messages will ruin your chances. I have passed all that onto you in this book.

These tips are meant for the guys that want to get dates with the hottest women possible online and to get as many dates as possible. I one hundred percent believe, that even for guys searching for "the one", that the best way to really find her is to go on as many dates as possible; to meet as many women as possible until she finally shows up.

If you've ever heard the saying "God helps those that helps themselves." you will understand what I'm trying to say. You can't sit and hope that luck will bring you the right girl; you must go out and find her.

These days everybody has tried online dating; there is no reason to think that the girl that you are looking for isn't on there looking for you.

Every year online dating will become more and more popular and the guys with the skills and knowledge about online dating are going to be the guys on top of the world.

I have already felt that feeling and I have written this book for men that want to feel it as well. Men who want to be able to date a new girl every day, men that want dates with the girls that get more messages a day than they could possibly read.

I have given you the knowledge to be able to do all this, all you have to do is get online and start messaging girls. I would tell you good luck, but you won't need it.

Check out some of my other books as well:

The Key Logger: A Forbidden Glimpse at the True Nature of Women

The Perfect Conversation: Win Any Girl with Words

The 9 Laws of Attractive Body Language for Men

Understanding Sexual Attraction: What Makes a Woman Want You

120 Body Language Signals that She Likes You